

Foundation for Sarcoidosis Research
Local K.I.S.S. (Kick In to Stop Sarcoidosis) Day
Registration Form

Sarcoidosis (pronounced SAR-COY-DOE-SIS) is a disease that can appear in almost any organ in the body, but is found most often in the lungs or lymph nodes. It is the most common chronic fibrotic lung disorder in the United States. Typically, sarcoidosis victims are young – 20 to 50 years old. Although sarcoidosis affects 1 in 2500 Americans, the cause remains unknown and there is no cure. The Foundation for Sarcoidosis Research (FSR) is the leading nonprofit organization dedicated to improving care for sarcoidosis patients and to finding a cure for this disease. Funds raised through local 'K.I.S.S. Days' will support FSR's independent research programs and other crucial initiatives to raise awareness of sarcoidosis.
